Google rainbow snake snake

by Connor Mackle Photo by August Theodossy Everyone seems to play games on their computers at school, and it seems to be easier and easier by using the Internet. In fact, Google has implemented a way to play classic games on its Games & Toys section, with unforgettable, timeless games like Snake, Minesweeper, Pac-Man, Tic Tac Toe and Solitaire. These games themselves are fun and fun, but recently Google has even added new features to the Snake game. By simply searching snake, you can find the game in your browser, ready to play on a button. Now you can not only play the classic snake mode, but also choose between a variety of new game styles, new snake colors and various consumables. There used to be two snake colours; blue and rainbow, but now there is a selection of 11 different colors to choose from. There are 14 different options for feeding the snake, and now there are seven different game modes. While the color and food are purely cosmetic, the game modes change the style of gameplay, such as accelerated and slowed speeds, extra food and an invincible snake. Classic mode is still available, and a unique game mode that adds a new wall every time you consume food. With these new game modes, it's hard to resist playing snake on Google, as simple as it is. 0000 Rainbow Snake is a beautiful classic game. Food, snake painted in different colors.
